4 déclinaisons

1. The first image shows a dense, textured surface, possibly a book cover or a piece of fabric, with a mottled, brownish-gold color palette. The texture is highly irregular and appears to be made of many small, overlapping elements.

2. The second image shows a similar textured surface, but with a more uniform, reddish-brown color palette. The texture is still dense and irregular, but the color is more consistent across the surface.

3. The third image shows a textured surface with a color palette that is a mix of reddish-brown and dark brown. The texture is dense and irregular, with some areas appearing more saturated than others.

4. The fourth image shows a textured surface with a dark, almost black color palette. The texture is dense and irregular, with some small, bright spots that stand out against the dark background.
